Subdivision 1. Definition. For the purpose of this section, "employer" means an employer in the meatpacking industry.

Subd. 2. Right to adequate equipment. An employer must furnish its employees with equipment to safely perform their jobs under OSHA standards.

Subd. 3. Information provided to employee by employer. (a) An employer must provide an explanation in an employee's native language of the employee's rights and duties as an employee either person to person or through written materials that, at a minimum, include:

(1) a complete description of the salary and benefits plans as they relate to the employee;

(2) a job description for the employee's position;

(3) a description of leave policies;

(4) a description of the work hours and work hours policy; and

(5) a description of the occupational hazards known to exist for the position.

(b) The explanation must also include information on the following employee rights as protected by state or federal law and a description of where additional information about those rights may be obtained:

(1) the right to organize and bargain collectively and refrain from organizing and bargaining collectively;

(2) the right to a safe workplace; and

(3) the right to be free from discrimination.

Subd. 4. Commissioner duties. The commissioner of labor and industry must develop and implement a strategy to provide adequate notice and education to employees of their rights under this section and education on how to assimilate into their local community. The commissioner must consult with the commissioner of human rights in the development of the strategy. The commissioner shall assign the duty to implement the strategy to a specific identified position in the department. The position, along with contact information, must be included on printed materials the department prepares and distributes to carry out the commissioner's duties under this section."

"Sec. 7. [135A.043] NONRESIDENT TUITION REBATE.

(a) A student who does not qualify for a resident tuition rate or its equivalent at state universities and colleges, including the University of Minnesota, is eligible for a rebate of the difference between the nonresident tuition rate and the resident tuition rate if the student meets all of the following requirements:

(1) high school attendance within the state for three or more years;

(2) graduation from a state high school or attainment within the state of the equivalent of high school graduation;

(3) enrollment in and attendance at a state public institution of higher education; and

(4) ability to provide proof of citizenship.

(b) A public institution of higher education in Minnesota must provide a tuition rebate to a student who:

(1) meets the criteria in paragraph (a);

(2) paid nonresident tuition to attend the institution; and

(3) provides the institution with proof of citizenship within five years of enrollment.

The rebate is equal to the total nonresident tuition paid by the student less the amount of resident tuition charged to a resident student for equivalent credits during the same academic terms.

(c) This section is in addition to any other statute, rule, or higher education institution regulation or policy providing eligibility for a resident tuition rate or its equivalent to a student.

EFFECTIVE DATE. This section is effective the day following final enactment and applies to rebate of tuition for academic terms commencing on or after that date."

"Sec. 35. [136F.702] FIXED TUITION PLAN.

The board must offer students a fixed tuition plan for state universities in which the tuition per credit charged to an eligible undergraduate student by a college or university may not exceed the tuition per credit that the student was charged at the time of initial enrollment. The optional tuition cap is effective for a five-year period from the commencement of classes at the initial enrollment. If a student is enrolled at the same college or university after the five-year period, a new cap consisting of the tuition in effect at the first enrollment after the five-year period applies. There is no limit to the number of tuition cap periods that may apply to a particular student and each cap period must have a five-year duration. For the purpose of this subdivision, an "eligible student" means a student described in section 135A.031, subdivision 2, paragraph (a), clauses (1) to (5).

EFFECTIVE DATE. This section is effective July 1, 2008, and applies to tuition charged for courses that commence on or after that date. A student enrolled prior to the effective date may have the tuition cap set at the tuition charged for the student's first enrollment period commencing on or after that date."
